

End-User Learning Solutions

NEW

VISTA™ and OFFICE 2007

Is your company implementing Vista™ and Office 2007?

Do you want to realise
the productivity benefits of this system?

Let the ILX Group
support you through this transitional change.

NEW Release

The ILX Group announce the release of their VISTA and Office 2007 orientation support tool, which will focus on the changes between your old and new applications.

What makes our training different?

The main difference is that we focus on the new features that have been introduced to VISTA and Office 2007 and deliver it in a user friendly way so that not only the individuals benefit but also the business. By introducing this support tool before, during and after your migration to VISTA and/or Office 2007 you can significantly reduce your support calls to your help desk by up to 30%.

Who will benefit?

Our learning solutions can accommodate any size organisation from the very small to the major global corporations, offering customisation and contextualisation to incorporate your own internal policies and procedures.

Features

- Search facility on all changes
- Information provided in short precise modules
- Tabs that run through how the new features work:
 - “How to...”
 - “Show me...”
 - “Try it...”

End-User Self-Help Solutions

If you have just upgraded to Windows XP and Office 2003 or are finding that your support calls are on the increase, why not take a look at our self-help product? It focuses on the most common problems that people experience, even demonstrating how to re-set individual passwords when they have been forgotten. This product is guaranteed to reduce the number of support calls made to your help desk and minimise 'downtime' for individuals.

Additional features available

- Customisation – let us incorporate your own internal policies and procedures within the support tool.
- Company logos and statements.
- All of our content can be printed – unlike other e-learning tools.
